How to Measure for Control Cable Installation

For New Installation: Measure A + B distance from the control along an unobstructed cable routing to clutch and / or throttle connection. Round this dimension off to the next whole foot: you will have your cable length. We recommend that the cable bends have a minimum radius of about 8" (200mm). For Outboard engine installation, it is necessary to add three feet to the obtained length, in order to allow the engine movement.

To determine the needed length of the replacement cable, measure it from tip to tip. When ordering, specify the cable length in feet, rounding the dimension off to the next whole value. If any kit is required to complete the cable connection, consult the appropriate section in this catalog.

Outboard

$$A + B + 3' (90 \text{ CM}) = L$$

Inboard / Sterndrive

$$A + B = L$$

Rotary Steering

Add the lengths of A + B + C together and subtract 4" (10 cm) for each 90° bend.
 Add 12" (30,5 cm) for the engine tilt tube.
 To order in foot length, round up to the nearest whole foot.

Fig. 1

TILT TUBE MOUNTING - Fig. 1

Example:

A (2.5') + B (10.5') + C (3') = 16'
 16' - 8" (two 90° bends) = 15'4"
 15'4" + 12" (tilt tube) = 16'4"
 Round up to 17'

Fig. 2

TRANSOM SUPPORT OR SPLASHWELL MOUNTING - Fig. 2-3

Example:

A (2.5') + B (10.5') + C (3') = 16'
 16' - 8" (two 90° bends) = 15'4"
 Round up to 16'

Fig. 3

D = Conduit length

ORDER LENGTH: "D" dimension + 22" and round up to the next whole foot

Example: D= 120" + 22" = 142" (11'8"). Round up to 12 ft

The quality of a mechanical steering system depends on its efficiency (less driving effort) in push & pull load and low backlash on the steering wheel. The new Ultraflex Fourtech Steering Systems fitting with the M90 Mach Single-Cable are the best mechanical steering systems on the market today. They combine a minimal backlash with higher efficiency and they guarantee results with very narrow cable bends.
